

Photo submitted by P. J. Beatty

The BJ-2 sailplane being flown by its new owner Boet Dommissie, who used it to win the 1964 South African National Championship and make a 66.8-mph 500-km. triangular flight for which he has claimed a new world record. Of all-wood construction, the BJ-2 features a retractable skid/wheel unit, large-span Fowler flaps and a maximum glide ratio of 36 to 1.