

The gentle hiss of air over the canopy — the soft beat of surf on the Pacific beach 300 feet below cliff tops — the only sounds pilots hear as they soar over Torrey Pines Site, near San Diego, Calif.

