

Photo by Elwood Baker

George Hammerly and son flying a rental Schweizer 2-22C sailplane near the Leesburg, Virginia, Airport with the Potomac River below. The numerous commercial operations around the country have been making a significant contribution to the growth of soaring in the United States.