

Wherever soaring pilots gather, whether for competition, FAI Awards or just plain sport, you'll find RAINCO instruments, oxygen and communications equipment being used.

We take pride in our rapidly growing list of satisfied customers—they are our best advertising. Why not find out for yourself?

Write today and let us know your requirements . . . and remember:

There is no charge for our technical assistance or answers to your questions. We're here to help you select the very best for your sailplane, keeping in mind your individual requirements, present equipment and the type of flying which you like to do, in addition to causing the least strain on your pocketbook while not compromising quality and safety.
